1. SELECTING THE STONE

Clients may choose from our extensive and diverse inventory of granite, sandstone, andesite, or native stone quarried from the vicinity of the project site. We work closely with each client to carefully select the perfect stone with the right characteristics for the project environment.

2. STONE SIGN BLANK

A digital photo of the selected stone is submitted for approval. Our expert designers will then create and submit custom signage designs based on inspiration from the client.

3. FINAL PROOF

Designs and any necessary revisions are exchanged until receiving client approval. Photo quality mock-ups of the selected stone with the clients' message will be exchanged throughout this process.

4. PRODUCTION

Production is generally performed at our Northern California facility; however our expert craftsmen are capable of performing complex sign work on site using native stone.

5. FINAL PRODUCT

The results of the personal interaction between Stonehenge Signs and the client will be exactly as approved throughout the design process. Delivery and installation will be executed as pre-arranged.
